Military Appreciation Day at Huffines Chevrolet Lewisville

Patriot Paws Volunteer Fran Farrelly with service dog, Vette on the left. Legends member, Tom Lainson and Patriot Paws puppy raiser, Tammy Zelenski with Gypsy a seven-month-old yellow Lab in training.

Huffines Chevrolet Lewisville held their Military Appreciation Day on Saturday, March 20. They asked the Legends and Solid Axle clubs to provide a display of old Corvettes during their activities. They also invited Patriot PAWS to bring dogs to demonstrate and collect donations. A total of $658 was collected which Huffines matched for a total donation of $1,316 to our charity.

We were happy to meet Vette, the chocolate Lab that was named for our club's support of Patriot PAWS over the years. He is two years old now, has had all his training and will graduate on April 23 and go live with his Veteran. We took a lot of pictures of him.

Legends members' Corvettes provided an awesome display for the event. Providing cars were: Ed Atchley (pictured on the cover), Keith Bessell, Matt Tidwell, Don Eckhart, Denise Iverson, Bruce Jarrett, John McIlvoy, Al Lisbona, Ed Atchley, Tom Hubbard, John Spencer, Tom Lainson, Don Sebert, Mary Davis, and Bill & Diane Preston. Also providing C1s were Solid Axle members Ron & Kaye Daughterty of Benton, AR, Gary & Jennifer Sieb of Carrollton and Jim Biggerstaff of Denton.

Other Legends members came out to support the event too. I spotted Tom Atchison, Donna & Rick Wadley, Phil & Lynn Schilt, Tom Entekin, Mack Rogers, and Terry Sealock. I may have missed a few, but thanks for coming out.

Thanks to everyone at Huffines for putting on this event to honor the military. Especially, New Car Sales Manager, Chad Lower and Fred Whitfield who supplied the music for the day. Everyone could participate in the Corn Hole contest and compete to win a flat screen TV. Hot Dogs, Sausage Biscuits and all the fixins were also provided for everyone who attended. Huffines did similar events in April to honor teachers and first responders.

We all know that Chevrolet would not sit on their laurels, and the news coming out today proves this to be true. The rumors are talking turbochargers, flat-plane cranks, hybrid powertrains, and even a full EV version!

First to be announced will be the Z06, maybe a 2022 release! It will come with a naturally aspirated 5.5-liter flat-plane crank V-8, producing around 620hp and be able to rev all the way to 9,000 rpm.

The very next year (2023) look for the ZR-1 to be announced. This may get the 5.5-liter flat-plane V-8 with two turbochargers bolted on. With the Turbos pumping air into the 5.5L V8, it should be producing around 840hp!

By 2023 we will see the first AWD plug-in hybrid (PHEV) Corvette. It is rumored to have two electric motors on the front axle, and possibly a third adding more power to the same Z06's powered 5.5L V8 engine in the back. This may be called the E-Ray that GM has copyrighted a few years back. This combination should produce high 700's horsepower!

As GM has announced, they want to have 30 all-electric offerings by 2025. To this end, we may see the first all-electric Corvette in 2024! How it will be powered is unknown by us at this time.

Then there is the Zora!!! Making its appearance in 2025. Chevrolet should announce the one we are all waiting for--the 1,000+ horsepower Corvette Zora. How do you get to 1,000+ hp? Take the twin-turbo V-8 from the ZR1, and the hybrid system from the all-electric hybrid, and you end up with a Corvette Hyper Car!

FOR SALE

2003 Corvette Convertible Automatic.

White exterior with tan interior, tan top. Car is in excellent shape with 89,426 miles.

This car is all stock. This car belonged to former Legends member Ed O'Brien.

Price $14,000 or B/O.

Contact Diane O'Brien at 817 965-3800.

The High-Wing option was only briefly offered during the 2020 model year, and is coming back to the C8 starting on April 8th, according to GM Authority. The dealer-installed accessory, which is available in no fewer than five finishes, will cost you $995 plus installation.

The option code 5ZZ “gives your vehicle a more aggressive look” or so says the online description. There is no mention of downforce, but we do know the high wing offers a little less drag than the Z51 Performance Package spoiler.

The High-Wing Spoiler is designed to fit Z51 models pre-drilled holes, and is sold with four M6 bolts, two M6 nuts, two temporary locating pins, a template, a solvent package, and installation instructions. The required tools list consists of a power drill, three drill bits (4, 7, and 9 millimeters), a torque wrench, ratchet, extension, a 10-mm socket, a hairdryer, and a fishing line.

What are YOU
doing?

The work on our cars goes on through the winter, quarantine, and snow storms even when we can't have meetings and events. Don Eckhart and Denise Iverson had his 4-wheel drive 1971 Bronco in Bill Preston's garage to install disc brakes in February. So, for a break, we all had to take some field trips to the other busy garages in Flower Mound.

Work continues at Dan Jacobs' garage on his 72 convertible. Gary Williams and Chuck Endicott were busy fitting rear quarter fiberglass panels when we dropped in.

Bob & Linda Rockett's well equipped garage was handy when Don needed to use a press during the brake conversion. We got to visit with Linda who was recovering from a shoulder injury. We got to see Bob's current 56 Ford Pickup project with Chevy LS engine and running gear, which is nearing completion. He even revved up the blown Chrysler Hemi in his 34 Ford hot rod for us.

Bill & Don using Bob's press on ball joints.
